A Thank You to Rev. Horin Yamamoto (and all my teachers) And to the End of Summer Rev. J.K. Hirano

How joyous I am, Gutoku Shinran, disciple of Sakyamuni! Rare is it to come upon the sacred scriptures from the westward land of India and the commentaries of the masters of China and Japan, but now I have been able to encounter them. Rare is it to hear them, but already I have been able to hear. Reverently entrusting myself to the teaching, practice and realization that are the true essence of the Pure Land way, I am especially aware of the profundity of the Tathagata's benevolence. Here I rejoice in what I have heard and extol what I have attained.

Preface to Kyogyoshinsho: Collected Works of Shinran pg. 4

School has begun for many students. When I was young it was a very exciting time for me. I loved picking out my new clothes, shoes and school supplies. I wondered who my teachers would be and if I would get to sit next to any cute girls. My sister, who is a schoolteacher, told me that the teachers usually know who the not very bright kids are and that's why I usually got the mean teachers. But you know, I have been fortunate to have many amazing teachers in my life. The older I get, the more I realize how our teachers set the foundation for our lives.

This year, since school was starting, I went to California to see Kacie and Taylor and to go to Disneyland, hoping it wouldn't be too crowded. The new Star Wars rides were amazing, but I found a new ride, Luigi's dancing cars. I can still hear and see Kacie singing and dancing to "Mambo Italiano" as the car dances and sings. I know it will be one of my favorite memories of Disney. I had a very nice few days visiting Kacie and Taylor in California. It was a little tiring driving there, only a few days after driving to Ontario, Oregon for a funeral. Although as many people know, I love to drive.

I was accompanied on the drive to California by Dave and Callahan (Cali) Black. My friend Gail I. from Denver, Colorado also joined us in California. On the road, Dave, Cali and I had such nice conversations, I didn't even listen to any books on tape. I love eating in Las Vegas, but I didn't want to risk it. My friend Pam Y., as usual, got me into Disney. In California, for the most part, we ate at restaurants with outdoor seating. However, one night Kacie, Taylor, Gail and I ate at my favorite Korean Fried Chicken restaurant. I have been speaking about the Covid delta variant and I now know at least seven people that have been vaccinated and come down with Covid-19. It's a very scary feeling to know that there is something so dangerous and invisible that can really hurt you. Please stay masked, socially distanced and safe.

While I was on my trip, I received news that one of my favorite teachers in Japan, Rev. Yamamoto Horin had entered the Pure Land on September 15. I last saw Yamamoto-Sensei in 2014 when Carmela, Taylor and I went to Japan for Carmela's Tokudo ordination. After her ordination some of my friends held a dinner for me and Yamamoto-Sensei and his son Makoto joined us. He was looking a little frail, but his son said he was still going to temples speaking. Yamamoto-Sensei was a well-known speaker in Japan. I was lucky to have accompanied him on some of his speaking engagements.

I think Yamamoto-Sensei was fascinated by my curiosity. I constantly asked him questions. I had heard from some American students that well after I had left Japan, Yamamoto Sensei would talk about me. He seemed fascinated by how my completely American way of thinking viewed Japanese tradition. I had once asked him, "If Jodo Shinshu is all about a life of gratitude for every day, on New Year's Day, shouldn't Jodo Shinshu Japanese say, "Congratulations on the opening of today, instead of Congratulations on the opening of a New Year?" He also had a couple of my Dharma talks published in Japanese books on collections of Dharma talks. Since Yamamoto-Sensei was an influential speaker, I guess he told the publishers he wanted my talks included, so they were.

The last time I saw Yamamoto-Sensei was when he met Carmela; he was so happy that she had received ordination. He grabbed her hands and spoke to her in English (although he didn't really speak English, but managed to say,) "Amida Buddha's nembutsu is Shinran's nembutsu. Shinran's nembutsu is same as mine and now you too!" He was such a man of faith. In a conversation with his son Makoto, I said, "It must be frustrating to be Yamamoto-Sensei's son because he always talks about Jodo Shinshu." It seemed as though, no matter what the subject we were speaking was, Yamamoto-Sensei could turn it into a Dharma talk. Makoto agreed that there were times, it would be difficult, but that was his Father.

In Buddhist society, our teachers and the passing down of the Dharma are extremely important. Shinran's writing of the Kyogyoshinsho was to defend his teacher Honen's teachings. Shinran had written that one of his greatest honors was that Honen had allowed him to copy his writings. I bet Honen would be shocked that his disciple Shinran would spread the Nembutsu teachings to the entire world. The other day in our CBE seminar about Shinjin, Rev. Dr. David Matsumoto spoke about his translations of his teacher Rev. Dr. Takamaro Shigaraki. I think that Shigaraki Sensei would be honored and proud to be the teacher of Rev. Dr. Matsumoto. I feel like I am a disappointment to my teachers such as Rev. Yamamoto Horin or Rev. Inagi Sene and Rev. Kusada Haruyoshi. However, as Yamamoto Sensei told Carmela, my teachers' nembutsu are one and the same as mine.

The quote I began this article with is Shinran's preface in his magnum opus Kyogyoshinsho, about his great appreciation for the countless people who have allowed him to hear the Dharma. In this same preface, Shinran also expresses his gratitude to Devadatta, Ajatasatru (Ajase) and Vaidehi. Devadatta and Ajase are considered the villains in the traditional stories of Shakyamuni Buddha. They are also from the sutras, so these are individuals who were in a separate era from Shinran by over a thousand years. As each of us have experienced in our lives, it is often our enemies that prove to be our greatest teachers. Some of the most horrendous experiences of life, such as the death of a loved one or a life-threatening illness, can teach us the most about life. However, when a teacher sees us for who we really are and nurtures us into becoming our true selves, we blossom as human beings. Rev. Horin Yamamoto was a teacher like that for me.

Of all the relationships we have in our lives, that of teacher and student are so special. I have written about other teachers of mine. Mr. Vernon Bird, my music teacher was the first person outside of my family who gave me the confidence to move out into the world. Until I met Mr. Bird, I never felt like anyone really saw me. Rev. Haruyoshi Kusada didn't say a lot, but just being with him expressed to me what Jodo Shinshu was about and not just some words in a book. Then there was Rev. Russell Hamada who encouraged me to be a Hongawanji-ha minister. Not just to study Jodo Shinshu for myself, but as a way to eventually give back to the Sangha that had given so much to me. If you feel you have had a good and blessed life, I'm sure there were teachers behind your success.

There is a saying written in a guidebook for ministers, that says, "Our life is filled with warmth in sharing life with others. It is a simple truth to learn, but a difficult practice to fully realize. In personal life, it means to act by placing ourselves in the position of another, and in community life, it means to give service with joy and gratitude for the betterment of all. The practice of making yourself and others happy is based upon the clear understanding of life, which is oneness. In deep gratitude, let us realize this Oneness of all life, the heart of which is Compassion." I realize that the Summer of my life has ended, and I am well into the Autumn and Winter. However, so much of the warmth from the Summer of my life, is directly through my teachers. Thank you, thank you, thank you, to all the teachers in the World. Your life has truly made this world a better place.

Namo Amida Butsu!

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Hello all,

Hope you are all doing well and are enjoying your summer. I want to thank all who attended and supported this year's Obon Dance and Service. It has been three years since we have been able to have both events and it truly feels like life is getting back to normal.

Unfortunately, I was not able to attend either event due to contracting Covid a few days prior to the Obon weekend but I have been told by many that it was truly a memorable weekend. We are truly fortunate to have such a dedicated board that planned this year's events, with safety as the number one concern. They overcame several obstacles and changed our traditional food service, but we were able to have the dance festival that we have all grown up with and have come to love. If you were able to attend, I hope that you enjoyed the evening with friends and family.

We are excited to have Reverend Hirano kick off our Sunday Dharma services on Sunday, September 11th at 10:00 am. Please save the date for our annual Bazaar on Saturday, October 8th, we have a great menu planned and a virtual raffle for several wonderful prizes. I want to thank Reverend Hirano, the board, and all the temple members for the countless hours preparing for this year's Obon and hopefully you are proud to have such a wonderful place to hear and receive the Dharma.

Thank you again and I look forward to seeing you at the temple.

In Gassho,
James A.

BAZAAR DONATION LIST

BAZAAR is coming fast ... please save the date of October 8!!

In order for the church to plan ahead, we are asking our members and friends if there is anything they can donate to help us offset some of the costs.

SHOUT OUT!

The Buddhist Church of Ogden would like to thank Tomoko S. for donating a snow blower for our use. It will be very useful during those winter months - definitely saving some backs from shoveling the snow! Thank you for thinking about us Tomoko!

We would also like to thank the Hamada Family for donating a Japanese shishu embroidery done by Aiko Hamada. It is of the Jizo Bodhisatva, the Protector of Children and Travelers. The piece is almost five feet tall and has been hung at the back of the Hondo area. Aiko was a gifted embroiderer and created a beautiful, intricate piece. Please take a moment to look at it when you come to the church for service.

BWA NEWS

You only live once, but if you do it right, once is enough. –Mae West

It is hard to believe that summer is almost over, and fall is on our doorstep...we are likely glad temperatures have subsided a bit. However, action is heating up with the Buddhist Women’s Association and their activities.

July brought the initial in-person Obon since the Pandemic with our traditional dancing and the Hatsubon service with Otoki. Thank you so much to Eillen K. and her toban group, along with a few others who put together a delicious teriyaki chicken bento box for service attendees to take home to enjoy. Our appreciation is extended to Steve K. and Blaine Y. for cooking up the chicken. The bento was enjoyed by all.

The ladies have begun to work on a beautiful quilt to be raffled off at our Bizarre Bazaar upcoming on October 8. Darlene M. has prepared the material to be placed on the frame and August 21st was the first work session with another following on August 28th. Lorraine S. has sewn matching pillow cases. We are grateful to all who will be constructing the quilt and accessories. Be sure to get your tickets for the raffle and sell them to all your friends, relatives and those interested in winning not only the quilt, but a host of other great prizes.

Mark your calendars for October 8 and plan on helping out with the acquisition of prizes for the bazaar raffle and also the preparation of the bento box which will be sold for the event. If you would like to help, but are not on the email listing, please contact a BWA member or see the information on the temple calendar.

Our next BWA meetings will be September 25 at 11:00 a.m. and October 23 at 11: 00 am.

DHARMA SCHOOL NEWS

It is difficult to believe it is September--hope our Dharma School students enjoyed the summer! Our students--elementary, secondary and college-aged--are already back in school. We wish all our Dharma School students a good school year.

The Salt Lake Dharma School will resume their annual Back-to-School picnic on Sunday, September 11th at 11 a.m. The picnic will be at Murray Park – Pavilion No. 5, 292 East Murray Park Avenue in Murray. The SL Dharma School will provide fried chicken and are asking attendees to bring a side dish or salad to share. This event is always a good time for both the kids and adults.

In conjunction with our Ohigan service, our Dharma School class will resume on Sunday, September 25th, directly following service. If you have children, grandchildren, nieces or nephews, please feel free to bring them to the service and our first class of the school year. In accordance with our current temple policy, we do require masks and can provide one for the students if they need one.

Hope to see you all in September!

The word Higan comes from the Sanskrit word Paramita - "Other Shore." The words "other shore" refer to the "world of Nirvana." As the name Higan denotes, this is the time to remind within each and every one of us the Bodhisattva practice of the Six Paramitas of charity, morality, patience, effort, meditation, and wisdom. It is the means by which one crosses over the illusory ocean of birth and death to the other shore of Nirvana.

Allegiance is a musical by Jay Kuo and a book by Marc Acito, Kuo and Lorenzo Thione. The story, set during the Japanese American internment of World War II (with a framing story set in the present day), was inspired by the personal experiences of George Takei, who stars in the musical. It follows the Kimura family in the years following the attack on Pearl Harbor, as they are forced to leave their farm in Salinas, California and are sent to the Heart Mountain Relocation Center in the rural plains of Wyoming.
