Sense of Wonder

~By J.K. Hirano

*O, I believe, Fate smiled and Destiny
Laughed as she came to my cradle
Know this child will be able
Laughed as she came to my mother
Know this child will not suffer
Laughed as my body she lifted
Know this child will be gifted
With love, with patience and with faith
She'll make her way.*

Wonder, Natalie Merchant

This is the time of year when I feel so grateful to be living in Utah; the cool days and cold nights, the trees changing colors, the sound of leaves blowing in the wind, the kiss of frost on the morning grass and window panes. I begin to anticipate the coming holidays of Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's and the wonderment and magic of the season.

Although gratitude is something I really try to feel and develop throughout the year, it is during the waning days of autumn, as the day shortens and night lengthens and winter is at our doorsteps, that gratitude seems to naturally spring forth in my heart. As my family vacationed in Disneyworld with the Black family over the UEA school break and we safely returned home, this sense of gratitude and wonder seemed to call to me from all directions.

While we were in the Magic Kingdom, I loved to just sit on a bench and watch the people, grateful for a place to rest my exhausted feet. There were people from all over the world, enjoying the same things. We all loved the exhilarating sense of flying in the ride "Soarin'", the whimsy of "Splash Mountain", the tinge of fear from "Tower of Terror", and the curiosity towards the variety of animals carved into the "Tree of Life". However, above all else, no matter what our cultural background, we all loved to laugh and play with our children. There could be the biggest, meanest looking tattooed, shaven headed man you could imagine or never want to meet on a dark street, but as he held his child's hand in line, we were brothers. It reminded me of a passage from Rachel Carson's book The Sense of Wonder: "If a child is to keep alive his inborn sense of wonder, he needs the companionship of at least one adult who can share it, rediscovering with him the joy, excitement and mystery of the world we live in." As I shared these few days with my family and friends, I remembered that Walt Disney created Disneyland as a place he could enjoy with his two daughters. There is reciprocity between parent and child during these experiences of wonder.

Rev. Hirano's article continued on next page.

Each day of our lives should invoke within us a sense of wonder. As I reflect on these various things, I cannot help but wonder, "Why have I been so blessed?" Each moment of joy I have experienced in my life is the result of millions of unseen causes and conditions. In my life, I have had a few brushes with death, yet, because of a friend's kindness or a doctor taking a little extra time, I am allowed to laugh with and enjoy my family.

Our temple is like a family. It is with a sense of wonder I see families from all walks of life come together to listen to the Dharma. Each Sunday evening, I feel a deep sense of gratitude to be able to have shared the Nembutsu with so many wonderful friends. I hope we can each walk this Nembutsu path with a sense of wonder and gratitude.

This passage I began with is from a song I really enjoy called "Wonder". It was written and sung by Natalie Merchant. It is often considered to be an anthem of sorts for people with disabilities, but are we not all blessed with our own disabilities? I am hampered on a daily basis by my greed, anger and ignorance. Yet, somehow, because of unseen causes and conditions, I am allowed to live and love life.

The only thing I can respond with is, "Namo Amida Butsu."

President's Message

Happy New Year!

Another year has come and gone, time sure does fly by. The next couple of months will be full of activities at the church. The annual Perch at the Church will be January 8th. Weather permitting we will go ice fishing at Pineview in the morning, followed by lunch at the church. February 5th will be our potluck Super Bowl party. Everyone is invited to come out and have a good time at these events.

The Jodo Shinshu Center (JSC) debt reduction campaign is continuing through May of 2012. Letters have been sent requesting each member contribute $199.00 toward the reduction of the debt owed against the JSC. If you are financially able, please consider donating. The JSC is a beautiful facility that we can all be proud of. The center is home to many programs such as IBS and CBE that will continue spread the Dharma to current and future generations.

With the beginning of the New Year, many of you will be renewing your membership. Just a friendly reminder, that as of last year the dues were raised to $150.00 per member. Also, yearend contribution letters along with Bodhi Seals will be distributed at Ho'onko Service on January 15th. If you're unable to attend Ho'onko, the letters will be sent in the mail.

This year marks 100th anniversary of Buddhism in the state of Utah. A combined celebration of the Salt Lake, Ogden, Honeyville, and Corrine temples is set for September 15, 2012 at the Salt Palace Convention Center in Salt Lake City. More details will be forthcoming as we get closer to the date.

Gassho,
Kirk .

NEW THIS YEAR!

GATO'S CORNER

I am pleased to introduce you to Reverend Kurt and his special friends, Gato and Saffie. Rev. Kurt writes a fabulous article each month for the Fresno Buddhist Temple and he has graciously shared his articles with us.

His articles appeal to all ages and each article has a special Dharma message in it. In this first edition, I have asked Rev. Kurt to include a bio of him - I have also included his first offering to the Ogden Buddhist Temple. THANK YOU to Reverend Kurt, Gato, and Saffie for sharing their messages with us.

I was born in Anchorage Alaska, but in my early childhood moved to the Washington DC metro area where I grew up. I moved to Washington State in high school and graduated with a B.A. in Psychology from the Evergreen State College in 1985. I started my career working with the Chronically Mentally ill population in Seattle.

I moved to Japan and taught English in Tokyo for 4 years and this is where I became exposed to Buddhism. I attended the English Buddhist Academy in Tokyo and had the opportunity to take several courses on Japanese Buddhism at Taisho University.

Upon my return to Seattle I became an active member of the Seattle Betsuin under the guidance of Rev. Castro. During this period I managed a housing program for homeless clients with mental illness, to help them become stable and move on to more permanent housing. In the fall of 2003 I received my tokudo ordination at the Hongwanji in Kyoto, and started attending IBS in January of 2004. I graduated in the fall of 2007 and received my Kyoshi certification in December of 2007, and my Kai Kyoshi certification in April of 2009. I have served at the Fresno Betsuin as an associate minister since April of 2008.

GATO'S CORNER

It's a cold January day and I'm at home reading a newspaper article on the events that happened last year. I can see Saffie sitting on her scratching post. She is looking out the window at some birds that are hopping around on the ground. Gato is sitting next to me on the couch.

Rev. Kurt: Last year was quite a year, wasn't it Gato?

Gato: I'll say. It was a horrible year. The economy was so bad and so many people were out of work. It was hard for them to take decent care of their cats. When I think of the tsunami in Japan it still gives me nightmares. Of course the passing of grandpa is at the top of my bad year list. Yikes, I wouldn't want to go through last year again.

Rev. Kurt: How about you Saffie? What are your feelings about last year?

Saffie: Happy, happy year! You brought me home and I met “Gato, the Humble Buddhist Cat”. I got lots of food to eat and toys to play with. A very happy year!

Gato: You’re so young, you don’t know anything! Everything was not “happy, happy” was it pops?

Rev. Kurt: I think that both of you are right. Bad things happened and good things happened. This is how life is. The Buddha would want us not to focus on only the good or bad things, but to look at the larger picture. The Buddha taught us not to look at things dualistically. That means things aren’t just one extreme or another. We should try to see the middle.

Gato: I see what you’re saying. It was sad losing grandpa, but it’s cool that Saffie moved in with us.

Saffie: I see too. I have a nice home, but understand what happened before I came here was sad for both of you.

Rev. Kurt: Great, let us focus on the New Year and all it will bring.

Gato: Cool. Let’s show Saffie our favorite winter drink; hot chocolate with cinnamon sprinkled on top.

Saffie: Yum, yum!

In Gassho,
Rev. Kurt

BWA NEWS

By Tami H.

I can’t believe it has been another year! Thank you to all the BWA ladies for all the work they have done this year, including fundraisers for the church, yummy lunches for clean-up and services. Most recently for Bodhi Day we had yummy soup and breadsticks, just right for cold weather. Thanks to Betty S., Karen D., Ruth S., Jeanie P., Aiko H., and Annette K.. They do so much for the temple; we would be lost without all the ladies.

We will be having our annual membership party on February 26th. We will be having lunch at the Greenery Restaurant at 11:30 and will return to the temple for a short service and a fun game of bingo with prizes. Please RSVP to Ellen K. at (omitted for online version). Remember to bring a bingo prize. Hope to see you all there.

Thanks to everyone for all your support over the last year. Our next meeting will be held on January 29th at 1:00 pm.

In Gassho,
Tami H.

Buddha's Bookshelf

Each GEPP0 we will be spotlighting a book on Buddhism. The article will contain the book information and a short summary written by a study group or temple member. We hope you enjoy our "bookshelf".

This edition's review is written by Kimberly J.

This review is of Creating True Peace by Thich Nhat Hanh.
Published by Free Press

This holiday season brings blessings and wishes of "Peace on Earth" and is the perfect time to reflect on what peace really is and how we can create it in our lives. Thich Nhat Hanh offers simplistic methods on how to do just that, not just during the Christmas season, but all year long, in his book "Creating True Peace."

True peace is always possible and it is not an act of passivity and weakness, but one of cultivating understanding, love and compassion even in the face of misperception and conflict. Peace requires courage.

Each one of us holds the seeds of violence and compassion in our minds and it is up to us to decide which seed we will water. Whichever our choice, it will be the one to take root and grow strong.

Having survived two wars, Hanh offers a practical manual for us, our family, our community and our world. He says the very nature of war turns us into enemies and that the daily wars that occur in our thoughts and within our families have everything to do with the wars fought between peoples and nations throughout the world.

Peace is not simply the absence of violence; it is the cultivation of understanding, insight, and compassion, combined with action. Peace is the practice of mindfulness, the practice of being aware of our thoughts, our actions and the consequences of our actions. Mindfulness is at once simple and profound. When we are mindful and cultivate compassion in our daily lives, we diminish violence each day. We have a positive impact on our family, friends and society.

An attitude of openness and the willingness to recognize and accept the diversity of the human experience and the spiritual values of other traditions and cultures is essential in the practice of nonviolence.

Hanh says when we cannot handle our own suffering, we spew forth our frustration and pain onto others around us. We must become responsible for our own pain and work to transform it to save ourselves and those we love. When we witness people throw pain and suffering at us, we should not feel injured, but have only compassion.

Only when we are calm and lucid can we handle all situations with understanding and love. This is taking good care of the seeds of anger and violence that are within all of us.

We all have the right to suffer but none of us have the right not to practice. It is our responsibility as humans to transform our suffering in order to transform the suffering of those around us.

One of my favorite pieces of advice in the book is that each home should have a “breathing room.” It is a place where family members can go to gain refuge. It does not have to be a large room and it can even be part of another room where we can go and sit comfortably and just breathe when we are not feeling solid or peaceful. We have rooms in all of our homes to greet guests, play video games, watch television, for eating, everything except peace. We could extend these peace rooms in our schools, hospitals, city halls, corporate offices and prisons—areas that no one can violate. The breathing room in our homes must be a place where everyone has immunity, where anyone will be protected and safe. It’s a place to restore your balance and the whole family can sign a treaty agreeing that the room or space will only be used for that purpose.

Once we gain peace in our homes, it will transcend to those around us. As the popular Christmas hymn sings, “Peace on earth, good will to men,” may we all choose to practice peace and be responsible for the transformation of ourselves, our family, our community and our world.

MEMBERSHIP REMINDER!

Just a reminder that MEMBERSHIP is now due!

Don't forget that membership is $150 per adult member and $10 per member, 20 and under.

We are required to report all membership and have to pay for each of you, please help us by paying your membership promptly so that our temple can remain in good standing.

SL Boutique

The Dharma School participated in the Salt Lake Temple's Christmas Boutique selling Manju. The cold weather did not discourage shoppers. We sold 75% of the manju on Saturday. Thank you for supporting the Dharma School at the boutique and a special thanks to the BWA ladies, Aiko H., Julia F., Annette K. and Ruth S. for teaching the kids the art of making manju. This was great project that took two week-ends and included everyone from Pre-school class up to the Jr. YBA.

Bodhi Day

I'm always moved at the compassion and care expressed by the Dharma School families. This year for Bodhi Day the Dharma School decided to participate in the KUTV and Salvation Army's Angel Tree Project. The Dharma School decided to forgo family gift exchanges and individual class parties and donate that money to sponsor Christmas for those in need. The Angel Tree provides an opportunity to help out less fortunate children and seniors that maybe overlooked during the Christmas holiday. Dharma School initially selected two boys ages 2 and 12 to sponsor. But because of the generosity of families participating, Dharma School was able to sponsor 4 children. We met at Shopko following service and divided up into 4 groups purchasing shoes, clothes, toys and other items the children would enjoy. This was a positive reinforcement of the Eightfold Path - Right Thoughts, Right Conduct, Right Effort, and Right Mindfulness. The Dharma School kids were delighted to participate and look forward to next year.

THANK YOU TO MR. AND MRS. Y!!

Our Dharma School was given a very special treat from Mr. and Mrs. Y.

They came and taught our Dharma School students all about Bonsai – just the basics though. Mr. Y. is a master at Bonsai and wanted to share the joy of this talent with our students!

Each of our students created a small tree of their own. They were also treated to a Santa Origami made by Mrs. Y.

What a wonderful experience for our students! Thank you to Mr. and Mrs. Y. for sharing with your talents!

With 2011 coming to a close, THANK YOU to everybody for all your support of our Dharma School! Happy Holiday's to everyone!

Thank you to everybody for supporting our Mochi fund raiser this year! We look forward to making it for all of you. We are actually becoming better and better at it! Of course, there were some hiccups in our process this year, but overall we are learning to love to make mochi! We appreciate all our parents who come out and support us in this event each year. Special thanks goes to Steve and Ellen K. and Tom F. who came out and offered all their fabulous expertise even though their children are adults now!

We appreciate their continued support and we appreciate each of YOU!

2012 Ogden Dharma School Winter Party

8 January 2012

Ice fishing at Pineview Reservoir, north side of Cemetery Point

When

1. On the ice at 7:30am. If you want to carpool, meet at the Church by 7:00am.
2. We'll fish until about 1:00pm and plan on lunch at 2:00pm.
3. If you can't make it fishing, please feel free to come to the Church for the fish-fry lunch!!!!

How to Get There

1. Travel up Ogden Canyon and pass the dam as if you were going to Snowbasin ski resort (do not turn and cross-over the dam as if you were going to Powder Mountain ski resort).
2. Continue east past the reservoir. The road will curve to the north and you'll pass the Chevron gas station.
3. Turn left at the intersection to "HUNTSVILLE" and "BEACH MARINA"
4. Follow road to end (about 2 miles) and park in parking lot. DO NOT PARK ALONG THE MAIN ROAD – YOU WILL GET A TICKET. Signs are posted by the parking lot requiring a $9 parking fee and a $2 per person "walk-in" fee – these fees DO NOT apply in the winter!!!
5. Walk across the road and down to the lake. Veer to your left. Look for the black, fishing tent with the red University of Utah banner.

What to Bring

1. Fishing License – If you are 12 years old or older you need a license to fish. You can buy one at any license agent (egs: Sportsman's Warehouse, K-Mart, Sports Authority, etc.) or on-line at <http://wildlife.utah.gov>.
 - a. 365-day youth (12 to 13 years of age) - $5
 - b. 1-day, resident (14 years of age or older) - $8
 - c. 7-day, resident (14 years of age or older) - $16
 - d. 365-day, resident (14 years of age or older) - $26
2. Warm Clothes (dress in layers) – gloves, hat, snow pants and especially insulated (preferably waterproof) boots.
3. Optional –
 - a. Something to sit on – small, collapsible camp chairs work well.
 - b. Sleds or Tubes – The south side of Cemetery Point has areas suitable for sledding.
 - c. Drinks and snacks.
 - d. Change of clothes (just in case).

What to be Careful of

1. The Cemetery Point access road and parking lot are generally not plowed and can be slippery. Four-wheel drive vehicles are preferable.
2. There is a path in the snow down to the ice – it may be slippery.
3. Be very careful when walking on the ice - it can be very slippery. Also be aware of drilled ice holes – some can be as large as 10 inches in diameter and you don't want to step in them.
4. Don't worry if you hear the ice crack...that means the ice is safe (really!!!)

Guest Speaker: Rev. Yuki Sugahara from Florin Buddhist Temple

Bio from Rev. Sugahara:

My name is Yuki Sugahara and I'm newly got assigned from BCA on July, 2011. I'm now a resident minister for Florin Buddhist Church. I'm originally from Japan and was born as a son of temple family called "Korinji (father's side)" and Gokurakuji(mother's side)" in Shimane prefecture which is a north prefecture of Hiroshima.

When I was a high school student, I stayed at Rochester, NY as a Rotary club's exchange student for a year. After came back to Japan from the exchange program, I majored Political Science and graduated from Ritsumeikan University in Kyoto. I've got Tokudo Ordination(which is needed to be a minister) in 1996 and Kyoshi Ordination(also needed to be a minister in abroad) in 2002. I Went through IMOP(International Ministerial Orientation Program) in 2009 which was organized by onganji and stayed in Berkeley, CA.

One of my hobby is to play Bass Guitar. I play bass guitar during service on last Sunday Service of the Month. I used to ride Harley Davidson, but I sold it before I come to the US... I also like to cook, bowl, and drive. I hope I can bring my bass guitar and play little bit after my Dharma talk at your temple.

My theme as a minister is to have "Friendship, Understanding, and Nembutsu"... "Have FUN!"

I'm looking forward to seeing you! Thank you for reading.
